

Dear Adam Johnston,

Congratulations on completing your first 10 Acts of Leadership! Your participation at events is great support for others involved in the fight against the climate crisis. We are proud to call you a Climate Reality Leader!

Back in 2006, former Vice President Al Gore started the Climate Reality Leadership Corps because he knew that all around the world, there were incredible people like you committed to stopping climate change and creating a safe and sustainable future for us all. And he knew that with a little training and with a way to connect with others who were just as principled and passionate, there truly was no limit to what you could do.

Ten years and over 10,000 trained Climate Reality Leaders later, you only have to look at the success of the recent Paris Agreement to see he was right. And by completing your first 10 Acts of Leadership, you've been an integral part of this success story, helping change hearts and change minds around the world.

I hope you're as proud of what you've accomplished as Vice President Gore and I are. I hope you look at the developments in pro-climate policies, clean energy, and other solutions happening around the world today and see the difference you've helped make. And I hope you're as energized and excited for your next 10 Acts of Leadership as we are.

As a Climate Reality Leader, you're part of something big, something truly important. And here at Climate Reality, we're doing everything we can to help you do your work even better. We're constantly increasing our resources available on Reality Hub and appreciate your active role in this digital community. We're also asking Leaders like you to share your experiences here and inspire newer members to follow in your footsteps and get to work with their own Acts of Leadership.

We know completing your first 10 Acts of Leadership is just the beginning and we can't wait to see what you do next. Here at Climate Reality, we've got a lot of work – vital work – ahead of us at this critical moment to create the future we want. But with Climate Reality Leaders like you stepping up and taking on Acts of Leadership, we know we will.

Sincerely,

Ken Berlin
